Shareholders that confer their representation through electronic means shall be required to notify the appointed representative of the conferred representation. When the representation is conferred to a Director and/or the Secretary of the Board, this notice shall be understood as made upon receipt by the Company of said electronic delegation. The person that has been delegated the vote may only exercise it attending the Meeting in person. On the date and at the place of the Meeting, and during the hour before the meeting, the appointed representatives must identify themselves with their Spanish ID, Foreigner Identity Card or Passport so that the Company may verify the conferred delegation, together with a copy of said delegation, if applicable.

7.1 Period for receipt by the Company and registration of shareholders / Shareholder condition.

For its validity, both the delegations conferred and votes issued before the Meeting using remote communication resources must be received by the Company at the registered address or through its website not later than 23:59 on June 22, 2013.

After such period, voting rights and delegation shall only be accepted through remote communication resources, as well as delegations issued on a card by the entities participating in Iberclear that are presented by the representative to the staff in charge of registering shareholders within two hours before the estimated start time of the Meeting.

The delegation, vote or attendance shall only be considered valid if the shareholder condition is confirmed, verifying that the ownership and number of shares provided by each person in attendance, issue their representation or vote through remote communication resources (post) coincide with the details provided by Iberclear.

7.2 Rules of priority between delegation or vote using remote communication resources and attendance at the Meeting.

7.2.1 Attendance of the Shareholder at the meeting having delegated his representation or voted using remote communication resources, regardless of the means used, shall make the delegation or vote ineffective.

7.2.2 In the event that a shareholder performs several delegations or votes, the last action (delegation or vote) shall prevail, although the delegation or vote validly issued through handwritten signature on the printed card shall render those performed through electronic means null and void, regardless if made before or after.

Should it not be possible to ascertain the moment when the shareholder performed any of the delegations or votes, the vote, regardless of the means used for its issuance, shall prevail over the delegation. Should the shareholder have performed different contradicting votes, the last vote performed shall prevail.

7.3 Other provisions. Technical incidents.

A) In the event of using electronic resources, only one electronic action shall be valid, delegation or vote, and one revocation. The revocation cancels the delegation or vote issued but does not allow for a new delegation or new vote through electronic resources as this possibility is exhausted with the first vote or delegation. B) The sale of shares whose ownership confers right to vote that the Company is aware of shall render the vote and delegation conferred without effect. C) It is the exclusive responsibility of the shareholder to safeguard the electronic signature to use the electronic vote and delegation service. D) Shareholders with a right of attendance that issue their remote vote as provided herein shall be considered as present for the purposes of constitution of the General Meeting of Shareholders. F) If the shareholder is a legal person, the latter must notify if there is any change or withdrawal of the powers granted to its representative and, therefore, the company accepts no liability until the said notice has been made and provided the latter is made before the commencement of the General Meeting.

Technical incidents: A) The Company reserves the right to modify, suspend, cancel or restrict the electronic voting and delegation mechanisms when required or imposed by technical or security reasons. B) The Company shall not be liable for damage that may be caused to shareholders derived from faults, overloads, line failure, connection failures, poor operation of the postal service or any other
