

Beware of investment offers presented as an alternative to traditional savings products

19/12/2024 Warning

The Belgian public is once again being approached by companies offering so-called investments in various assets. These offers are often made with the promise of very high returns. Remain vigilant, however, because swindlers often lie behind these tempting offers.

Victims reported to the FSMA that they had received investment offers (notably in precious metals and cryptocurrencies) presented as an alternative to traditional savings products, with promises of very high yields. Behind these tempting offers, however, often lie crooks whose sole aim is to steal your savings.

Scam victims are often contacted by phone and email. Most of the time, the contacts follow on advertisements that appear on the internet, and in particular on social media and fake news sites.

Always remain vigilant if you are invited to invest in alternatives to traditional savings products. These investment offers may fall within the scope of the financial legislation that the FSMA is tasked with enforcing. They may thus not be offered to the public under just any conditions!

In the course of the past few weeks, the FSMA has received reports about:

- Estoque Invest (estoque-invest.com)
- Ezio Capital (<https://eziocapital.com/>)

The above companies are not authorized to provide investment services in Belgium.

The FSMA thus strongly advises against responding to any offers of financial service made by the companies listed above and against transferring money to any bank account number they might mention.

In order to avoid fraud, the FSMA makes the following recommendations to investors:

always check the identity of the company (company name, home country, registered office, etc.). If the company cannot be clearly identified, it should not be trusted.

always verify if the company in question has the requisite authorization. To this end, an easy search on the FSMA's website will do. Take note! Always beware of 'cloned firms': companies that pass themselves off as different, lawful companies even though they have no connection with them. A close look at the email addresses or contact details for the companies in question may prove useful in order to detect this type of fraud and prevent it.

More than ever, prudence is necessary. In case of any doubt, and before making any (more) payments, do not hesitate to contact the FSMA using the consumer contact form. As well, please feel free to notify it of any contact you may have had with a suspicious company that has not yet been the subject of a warning by the FSMA.

If you have been a victim of investment fraud, the FSMA advises you to file a complaint with the local police  or with the judicial authorities.