Through the new Vidrala Chile, the company will provide a modern, high-quality and competitive service to a broad range of customers across the food and beverage segments, many of whom are global, strategic and highly complementary to the Vidrala Group's existing commercial footprint.

Vidrala would like to acknowledge the industrial legacy established by the founding Toro family, the strong support of customers who will form the foundation of the company's future, and the continued dedication of the people and management team who run the business under highly demanding market conditions.
